Georgia State University Policy

6.10.16 Individual Conflict of Interest and Conflict of Commitment

Policy Summary

The purpose of this Georgia State University Policy on Individual Conflict of Interest and Conflict of Commitment is to increase the awareness of faculty and staff, including part-time and visiting faculty and staff, of the potential for conflicts of interest and commitments, and to establish procedures for identifying, reviewing, and managing such relationships to help assure the integrity of University endeavors. While the spirit of this Policy is to foster open and complete disclosure, its intent is not to discourage the participation of University employees in activities that serve to benefit the interests of the participants and the University.

Rationale or Purpose

Georgia State University encourages its faculty and staff to participate in activities of professional associations, governmental entities, industry organizations, and other public and private groups that serve to benefit the interests of the participants and the University. The experience and enhanced national status that such participation affords the University contribute to the richness and diversity of the academic community. While the University recognizes the benefit of such participation, it is important to identify and address potential, actual and apparent conflicts of interest and commitment that have the potential to directly and significantly affect the University’s interests, compromise objectivity in carrying out University responsibilities, or otherwise compromise performance of University responsibilities.

The purpose of this Georgia State University Policy on Individual Conflict of Interest and Conflict of Commitment is to increase the awareness of faculty and staff, including part-time and visiting faculty and staff, of the potential for conflicts of interest and commitments, and to establish procedures for identifying, reviewing, and managing such relationships to help assure the integrity of University endeavors. While the spirit of this Policy is to foster open and complete disclosure, its intent is not to discourage the participation of University employees in activities that serve to benefit the interests of the participants and the University.
