Georgia State University Policy

6.20.11 Sick Leave Policy (Faculty)

Policy Summary

If a department chair determines that the illness of a faculty member has resulted in a reduction of work load, the chair, in concert with the faculty member, will determine the amount of sick-leave time that must be reported for the faculty member.

Full Policy Text

For information on this policy, please see: http://www2.gsu.edu/~wwwfhb/fhb.html

Administration of Policy

Mandating Authority:
University Senate

Responsible Office(s):
Academic Deans and Department Chairs (see individual colleges)
Senate Committee on Faculty Affairs

Responsible Executive(s):

Policy History

Approving Body: Senate

Rationale or Purpose

The faculty of member institutions of the University System are professional (exempt) employees. Faculty work and faculty work load is not based upon the "eight hour day" nor upon the five-day work week. Faculty work, which includes instruction, research, and service, occurs in many time configurations. Faculty on ten-month contracts also do not accrue annual leave, nor do they earn sick leave for summer employment at their institutions.

Additional Information

University Senate March 14, 2002

Additional Helpful Resources