Georgia State University Policy

2.20.08 Non-Academic Withdrawal

Policy Summary

A student may be non-academically withdrawn from the university when, in the judgment of the Dean of Students, in consultation, at the Dean of Student's discretion, with other appropriate University officials, it is determined that the student has demonstrated behavior that: (a) poses a significant danger or threat of physical harm to self or to the person or property of others; or (b) interferes with the rights of other members of the university community or with the exercise of any proper activities or functions of the university or its personnel.

Additional Information
At the end of each calendar year, the Dean of Student shall report the number of students non-academically withdrawn to the Senate Committee on Admissions and Standards. Except in situations where the student is determined, at the sole discretion of the University, to be an imminent threat to self or others a student shall, upon request, be accorded an appropriate hearing prior to the final decision concerning his or her continued enrollment at the university. In situations involving an imminent threat, the Student will be provided a hearing as soon as practicable after the withdrawal occurs. Students who are non-academically withdrawn will be assigned a grade of W or WF by the instructor if they are withdrawn before the semester midpoint and a WF if they are withdrawn after the semester midpoint.

University Senate approved policy February 13, 2004
